All Headliners on Orpheum Bill Opening Sunday

An outstanding array of Orpheum circuit featured attractions and headliners will be found on the new all-feature program which comes to the Orpheum here Sunday matinee, Oct. 9.

Ann Codee, the celebrated French comedienne, and Ethel Clayton and Ben Keith are two very interesting offerings which are billed. Miss Clayton and Mr. Keith have chosen "Clipped", a tensely dramatic play-let by Tacie May Hanna for their return to the speaking stage after a long absence on the screen. A well selected cast headed by Miles McCarty will support the stars of the stage and screen in this offering. Yvette Etzel will remain for another week, presenting a new repertoire of songs. Doc Baker, the famous quick-change artist, returns in a new and lavish protean offering entitled "The Wishing Well" in which he is assisted by a large company of artists headed by Princes and Polly. Joe Weston and Collette Lyons have again deserted the musical comedy stage for the two-day and will provide a bright spot on the new bill. Another unusual offering will be Ann Codee's "Surprise" which is a distinct novelty well staged and interesting. "The Four of Us" and Florence Vernon and Company will complete the multi-feature program.
